Art Unit: 3634

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claim 1, lines 1-3, it is not readily apparent to the Examiner if the applicant is claiming a driving apparatus or a driving apparatus in combination with an assisting mechanism since the preamble fails to positively recite the assisting mechanism and the assisting mechanism is positively recited within the claims. If the applicant intends on claiming the combination, then the applicant should clearly and positively set forth the combination in the preamble. In claims 1 and 3, the applicant recites "each of the plurality of driving gears has a first rotational shaft". Which driving gear is the applicant trying to claim? 35a? 34a? The driving gear/worm gear 33u or 33b? These gears also have different "axis" of rotation therefore how can other gears be parallel and or orthogonal to them? The claims should be very specific on which gears are connected to what, what engages what, which axis are parallel or orthogonal to what, and this language should be consistent with the language in the specification.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Suzuki et al. (6,739,646 B2). A door closer (1) comprising a striker (column 4, line 35) attached to the vehicle body (2) and engaged by latching mechanisms (3 and 4), a driving apparatus in the form of an assisting mechanism (7) having two motors/driving sources (81 and 91) in parallel (see figure 2) and having gears. [note: it should be understood that motors which drive closure(s) would have gear(s) for driving and it is inherent that the motors 81 and 91 have gears which help drive the closure and latch assemblies]

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Several patents have been cited which disclose elements similar to that of the applicant's invention.

Depending on the applicant's amendments, claims 1-6 may be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action.
